Question regarding the State Commissioner of Lands

Does the Commissioner of State Lands have other statutory duties besides the disposition of tax delinquent land?

While most people associate the office of the Commissioner of State Lands with the redemption and sales of tax delinquent land, the truth is the office has three other specific statutory duties. They are: permitting and use of submerged lands in navigable waterways; maintenance and preservation of historical land records; and leasing and permitting of natural resources on state owned lands. In this article, General Counsel, Carol Lincoln briefly discussed the role of the office as it relates to the leasing and permitting of natural resources.

The Commissioner acts as chairman of the Natural Resource Committee (NRC) whose membership is made up of representatives from the following agencies: Department of Finance and Administration; Oil and Gas Commission; State Geologist; Forestry Commission; Soil and Water Commission; Game and Fish Commission; Park and Tourism Department; Department of Environmental Quality; and Natural Heritage Commission. The NRC determines the fees and royalties, as well as the terms and conditions of leases and permits. Leases and permits are issued after the opportunity for competitive bidding takes place. By statute, natural resources are defined as sand, gravel, oil, natural gas, casinghead gas, coal, other minerals, timber and logs from beds of navigable waterways. Permits for the removal of sand and gravel and leases for the extraction of oil and gas account for the bulk of the applications reviewed by the NR. Permits are issued for the removal of sand and gravel, whereas, leases are issued for the extraction of oil and gas. The office manages the leases and permits on behalf of the state agency or institution holding title to the natural resources. All funds received by the Commissioner of State Lands as compensation or royalties are deposited in the state treasurer then credited to the appropriate agency or institution.

Currently there are over 190 active leases and 75 permits under management of the office. Although the collection of funds generated from permitting and leasing of the state's natural resources is a welcomed source of revenue, the primary goal of the Commissioner and NRC members is the prudent stewardship of depletable natural resources. It should be noted that the Arkansas Game and Fish Commission has control over leasing and permitting of natural resources on its lands. If you would like to review the statues governing this area of law go to A.C.A. §22-5-801-814.

Five Steps to a Healthier; Happier Pet

North Shore Animal League America's Healthy Pet Package

With careful planning, lots of patience and a consistent approach to training and healthcare, your pet will be a valued member of your family and be able to do what he/she wants most to do: Please you! Here are some of the most important ways to raise a happier, healthier pet:

1. Choose the right pet for your home and lifestyle. There are many different sizes, ages and temperaments available at your local shelter. Mixed breeds are often healthier, hardier animals, and they combine the best traits of the purebreds into one loveable package.
2. Proper nutrition is key. Choose a nutritionally complete and balanced pet food from a trusted manufacturer. Providing your pet with a premium pet food formula for each state of their life gives them nutrition that will help them stay fit and healthy.
3. Get a wellness exam every six months. Because pets age up to seven times faster, on average, than people, dramatic health changes can occur in a very short amount of time. You wouldn't wait seven years to see our doctor for a checkup so why wait a whole year to have your pet examined? Twice-a-year wellness exams allow your veterinarian to detect, treat and, ideally, prevent problems before they become serious. Many diseases, such as leptospirosis, Lyme disease, rabies and giardia, can be prevented by vaccination. Contact your veterinarian today to schedule your pet's six-month wellness exam. For more information, visit the National Pet Wellness Month Web site at www.NPWM.com.

4. Prevent disease by controlling biting insects. The season begins when the temperature rises above freezing at night. Fleas, ticks and even mosquitoes can bring diseases into your home. So, the best time to apply control is before they start laying eggs and biting your pets. Your veterinarian can make a recommendation that is best for your pet.

5. Make a lifetime commitment. Before you make the decision to add a pet to your family, remember that this pet will rely on you for its well-being for a lifetime, which can last 10-15 years or more. The time and care you put into your pet will reward you both, with a lifetime return on love and affection.

The Way Ahead

by Major General William D. Wofford
The Adjutant General of Arkansas

A former major league baseball player and manager, Lawrence Peter "Yogi" Berra once said, "The future ain't what it used to be." Most of us understand the contradiction of that entertaining quote; however, it describes well the uncertainty of our operational environment. We naturally desire to avoid uncertainty and make great efforts to remove randomness from our lives.

Uncertainty is reality, and has always been a part of our operational environment.

Who could have predicted the attacks of September 11, 2001 and the resulting impact on the National Guard? Prior to the attacks, who in the Arkansas National Guard would believe by the end of the decade we would mobilize nearly 13,000 Arkansas Guardsmen across the globe. In 2008, who would believe in just five years Guardsmen would be wondering if their drill would be postponed due to a lack of a federal budget, or that many of our full-time employees would face furlough twice in the same year.

We long for certainty in a world full of randomness; the reality is few things are certain. Predicting change has become a sizeable industry. Think tanks release studies and pundits speculate all in the pursuit of fulfilling that human desire for knowing what lies ahead. At best, these are educated assumptions based on purely empirical evidence.

The way ahead for the Arkansas National Guard is to reduce our exposure to unknown risk while positioning ourselves for future opportunities. We achieve this one way; through the quality of our full-time and traditional workforce.

We must recruit and retain the best into our Army Guard, Air Guard, and civilian workforce. Our workforce must be agile, innovative, intelligent, diverse, and embrace change. We must be spiritually, emotionally, physically, and financially resilient. Our workforce should build upon an already outstanding reputation, and our people should be highly sought after in the private sector. The randomness of our world is outside our control, how we deal with this randomness is in our control. It is this type of workforce that excels no matter the challenge.

Today, we have the most professional organization throughout my nearly 40-year career in the Arkansas National Guard.

During the past year, despite the challenges, I witnessed actions by our members that inspire me. Some members of the Guard worked long hours and weekends, not knowing if they would be paid, to help mitigate the impact of the furlough and government shutdown on the Guardsmen and civilian employees. I witnessed our organization working together to reduce costs through innovative ways, while maintaining the highest level of readiness in an uncertain fiscal environment. I have seen our organization embracing emerging missions with professionalism, looking to the future not to the past. I witnessed our Guardsmen responding to the needs of their fellow Arkansans during emergencies, all while continuing to serve abroad.

I witnessed the spirit of the Guard and I am proud!

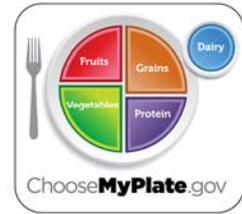

As we move forward, let's pause and reflect on who we are; we are the National Guard. We are the bedrock of this nation, and the oldest of all military services in the United States. Since 1636, despite the challenges of an uncertain world, the National Guard has responded to the needs of our fellow citizens at home and abroad. That is our core mission; our unique dual mission. We are community based; we're Arkansans who connect the military to our communities. That is important in an era without a draft and less than one percent who have served. We are a great value for defense; our cost effectiveness is a viable option to reduce costs and maintain force structure in our Army and Air Force.

The Guard is the way ahead for our defense...you are the way ahead for the Guard!

10 tips for women's health

Make yourself a priority and take time to care for yourself. ChooseMyPlate.gov helps you choose the types and amounts of food and beverages you need. And, make time to be physically active, so you can do the things you want to do.

1 find out what you need

Get personalized nutrition information based on your age, gender, height, weight, and physical activity level. SuperTracker provides your calorie level, shows foods and beverages you need, and tracks progress toward your goals. Learn more at www.SuperTracker.usda.gov.

2 enjoy your food but eat less

Use a smaller plate at meals to help control the amount of food and calories you eat. Take time to enjoy smaller amounts of food.

3 strengthen your bones

Choose foods like fat-free and low-fat milk, cheese, yogurt, and fortified soymilk to help strengthen bones. Be sure your morning coffee includes fat-free or low-fat milk.

4 make half your plate fruits and vegetables

Add fruit to meals as part of main or side dishes. Choose red, orange, or dark-green vegetables like tomatoes, sweet potatoes, and broccoli, along with other vegetables for meals.

5 drink water

Sip water or other drinks with few or no calories to help maintain a healthy weight. Keep a water bottle in your bag or at your desk to satisfy your thirst throughout the day.

6 eat whole grains more often

Choose whole grains like brown rice and whole-grain pastas and breads more often. Foods with a high-fiber content can give you a feeling of fullness and also provide key nutrients.

7 learn what is in foods

Use both ingredient and Nutrition Facts labels to discover what various foods contain. SuperTracker's Food-A-Pedia makes it easy to compare nutrition information for more than 8,000 foods.

8 cut back on some foods

Cut calories by cutting out foods high in solid fats and added sugar. Limit fatty meats like ribs, bacon, and hot dogs. Choose cakes, cookies, candies, and ice cream as just occasional treats.

9 be a better cook

Try out healthier recipes that use less solid fat, salt, and sugar. Eat at home more often so you can control what you are eating. If you eat out, check and compare nutrition information. Choose healthier options such as baked chicken instead of fried chicken.

10 be active whenever you can

Set up a goal to fit in at least 1 1/2 hours of moderate physical activity in your week. Being active 10 minutes at a time also adds to your weekly total. Ask your friends or family to keep you company as you bike, jog, walk, or dance. Don't forget to do some muscle strengthening activities twice a week.

Prepared Food

Do you know the definition of prepared food in the City of North Little Rock?

Prepared food is two (2) or more food ingredients mixed or combined by the seller for sell as a single item (i.e. salad, pizza, sandwiches, birthday cakes, meat and cheese trays, popcorn seasoned with salt and butter, candy, and mixed fruit). Prepared food is anything made or combined by the seller and is taxable at the full state sales and use tax rate. The item does not have to be prepared and sold at the same location. Prepared food is food sold with an eating utensil provided by the seller. Food is considered to be sold with an eating utensil provided by the seller when the food is intended for consumption with the utensil provided (i.e. the seller includes napkins or plastic forks in a to-go bag; the seller serves fried chicken and salad on a plate; a cup for a dispensed beverage is a utensil generally necessary for the customer to receive the beverage).

Exclusions include foods that contain raw eggs, fish, meat, or poultry that require cooking to prevent food borne illnesses.

All food service businesses (hotels, restaurants, convenience stores, movie theatres, food vendors, mobile concessionaires, etc.) are required to have an A&P (Advertising and Promotion) Tax Permit number to operate in the City of North Little Rock. Permits are issued by the City Clerk and Collector's Office in City Hall.

ALL food service businesses are required to collect a three percent (3%) A&P tax on prepared food and beverages for on or off-premises consumption. Food and beverage vendors setting up for special events such as concerts and sports tournaments are required to have an A&P Tax Permit and a current Privilege/Business License. Both the permit and license must be posted on site in the vending trailer.

Arkansas New Immunization Requirements

Children who will be 11 years of age or older on or before September 1 of each school year will be required to receive a Tdap shot in order to attend public or private school in Arkansas. This new requirement is anticipated to be effective September 1, 2014. Previously a Tdap shot was required for students entering Grade 7. Only one Tdap is required, so children who have already received the shot will not need another. Students who will be 11 years old on or before September 1 will have until October 1 to meet this new shot requirement.

Kindergarten and Grade 1: students need one Hepatitis A shot that was given on or after their first birthday.

Kindergarten through Grade 12: students need to complete a series of three polio shots. One of the shots must be given on or after the student's fourth birthday.

Kindergarten through Grade 12: students need to complete a series of two varicella shots. Varicella is also called chickenpox. History of disease can be provided in lieu of getting the shot, but only if it is reported by a medical professional.

Grades 1 through 12: students need to have completed a series of four DTaP shots with one given on or after the student's fourth birthday. Only three DTaP shots are required if the student did not receive any before age 7 years. The DTaP shot is the pertussis shot for young children. It also protects against tetanus and diphtheria.

Grade 7: students need a meningococcal shot. Students turning age 16 years on or before September 1 regardless of their grade will also need a meningococcal shot if they have not already had one. If they have had one prior to turning 16, they will need a second shot. Students turning age 16 years on or before September 1 will have until October 1 to meet this new requirement.

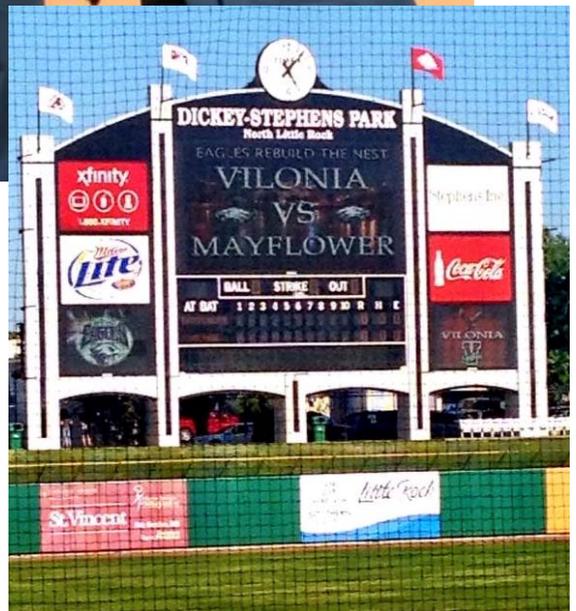

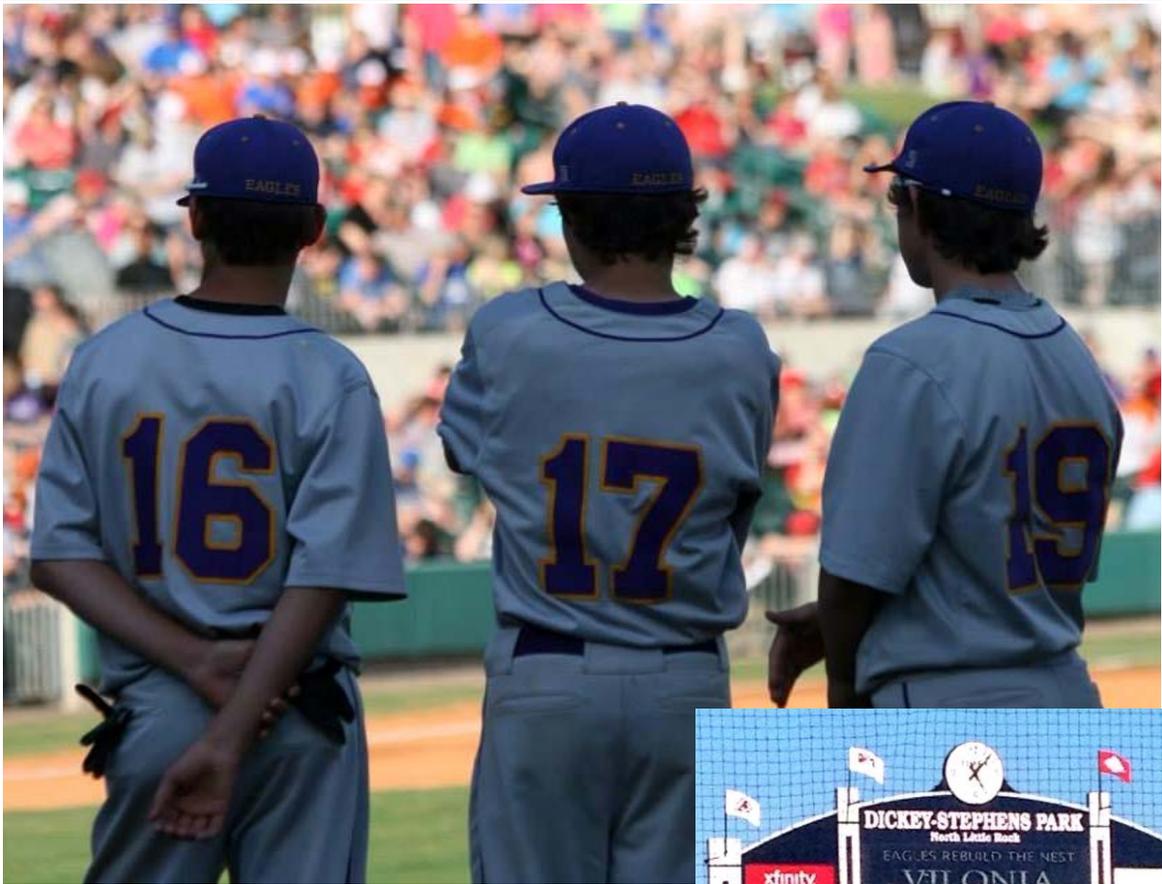

Pre-K: In addition to the previous requirements, children in childcare will need one or two Hepatitis A shots, depending on their age. Children will need one to four Polio shots, depending on their age, and need to wait at least six months after their third polio shot before getting the fourth one.

Last month, Vilonia and Mayflower baseball teams had the opportunity to play a game at Dickey Stephens Park. Donations made at the gate went to families effected by the devastating April tornadoes.

Help Still Needed

Message from North Little Rock Police Officer Karl Sorrells

When a disaster (natural, medical, or man-made) happens, Americans (Arkansans in particular) are some of the best people in the world. We act fast to help. We want to get out there as quick as possible (most of the time while the debris is still falling from the skies). We roll up our sleeves and volunteer...

- in the rain
- at the hospital emergency room
- donate water
- donate what little money we may have
- hold a hand
- take somebody a meal
- say things like “we are praying for you.”

All of these things are good. They are needed. The funny thing is that during these times, you will often hear people say things like “everyone wants to help now, but where are they going to be in 3—4 weeks?”

It is true that the number of volunteers drop continually as the days pass.

So, here it is four weeks after the tornadoes devastated central Arkansas. Where are we now? The people who were immediately affected might be out of harm’s way and safe, but there things they still need.

If you are able to help, please do. There are still churches and other organizations out there trying to help. If you want to donate money, please do. If you want to volunteer your time, please do.

I am not asking for anything other than heartfelt prayers. Please remember to pray for these special people as they are now out of the rubble and trying to rebuild their lives.
